“Public education is the bedrock of our community. I am dedicated in supporting those who lift our youngest generations and build our leaders of tomorrow.”

Greg Fink came to Walsh Gallegos with an established record of supporting public education and school administration. Prior to law school, he worked in higher education, coordinating student activities and covering Title IX investigations, fraternity and sorority affairs, student conduct, and risk management. He previously served at Texas A&M University, Quinnipiac University, and the University of Connecticut for well over a decade before pursuing his legal career.

Greg graduated cum laude from St. Mary’s University School of Law, where he also served as the Managing Editor and staff writer for The Scholar: St. Mary’s Law Review on Race and Social Justice. He was also honored with the Dean’s Award for academic success, high leadership involvement, and community influence. Greg earned a B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies (Human Resources Development) at Texas A&M University and earned a M.A. in Higher Education and Student Affairs at the University of Connecticut. He also worked for Semester at Sea, a multi-country study abroad program on a ship open to all students of all undergraduate majors, emphasizing global comparative study, and traveled to nine countries.
