“Growing up I saw good people striving to make every detail of school districts work, every day. I wanted to help.”

Jameson Baker comes from a family of excellent educators, which provided him a personal understanding of the issues faced by school districts. Jameson focuses his legal practice on the representation of school districts in the areas of general school law, governance, and litigation.

While at St. Mary's University School of Law, Jameson excelled academically, achieving membership in the Phi Delta Phi Honor Society and making the dean's list. He also worked as a staff writer for The Scholar: St. Mary's Law Review on Race and Social Justice.

During law school, he interned for the Honorable Judge Pamela A. Mathy, United States Magistrate Judge for the Western District of Texas as well as the United States Attorney's Office for the Western District of Texas, the United Services Automobile Association (USAA) General Counsel, and for Walsh Gallegos.
