“It is crucial that we support school districts and administrators so that they can teach, love, and inspire the next generation of students.”

Hannah Cramer was raised in Plano, Texas, where she was educated in public schools. She practices in the areas of general school law, student issues, employment, and special education in the San Antonio office.

Hannah earned her law degree from St. Mary's University School of Law, where she was named into the Order of Barristers, was a staff writer for The Scholar: St. Mary's Law Review on Racial and Social Justice, interned with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and served as the Pro Bono Program Student Coordinator.

Prior to joining Walsh Gallegos, Hannah represented indigent clients in guardianship, education, and employment law issues.
