“Education issues can move at the speed of light. I stay efficient, effective, and accessible so clients get what they need when they need it.”

Laura Rodriguez McLean has devoted the majority of her years in legal practice to supporting school officials. She feels privileged to serve those responsible for educating our kids.

Laura assists administrators and officials in general school law matters such as personnel and student issues on a daily basis. An experienced litigator and appellate attorney, she also represents public entities in state and federal courts throughout Texas.

Laura believes preventative law is an essential strategy for school districts. Her practice includes practical, hands-on training for educators and officials on a variety of general education topics.
