“I feel fortunate to have the opportunity to support public schools in the critical task of educating children.”

Leah Wingerson is an expert communicator and dedicated attorney with a range of experiences in Texas law, and a deep commitment to Texas public schools.

Leah began her legal career in the Office of the Attorney General of Texas. She then served as in-house counsel for a Texas public school district, where she gained valuable insight on the needs and challenges public school districts face.

Today, Leah focuses her legal practice on the representation of public school districts in the areas of employment law, student discipline, public information requests and other open records issues, and governance.
