“School officials work long and hard. When they need answers, they need them to be clear, relevant, and available just in time. We deliver.”

Meredith Prykryl Walker represents public entities in all facets of litigation, including employment, student matters, and special education. Meredith is an experienced trial attorney whose practice also includes the defense of public entities in appellate matters in state and federal courts.

Through a responsive and calculated approach, Meredith counsels public entities on a daily basis, particularly with respect to potential discrimination claims. Meredith is a proud product of public schools and feels privileged to work with educators and school districts to navigate litigation when it arises.

Along with her wins in the courtroom, Meredith provides extensive training to school personnel, fellow attorneys, and other business entities on a variety of topics directly impacting school districts and their employees in order to prevent litigation and avoid legal pitfalls on a day-to-day basis.
